

Dear Parents,

- We have had an exciting week at the Nock! Our sixth grade students had the opportunity to be in the audience with grades 3-6 to listen to a wonderful presentation by Jeff Kinny, the author of Diary of a Wimpy Kid. Jeff drove up in his orange bus (see attached) with his latest book cover wrapped around the exterior. His message was positive and well received by all of our students in attendance.
- I had the opportunity to see some seventh grade students present their data that has been collected throughout the fall during their exploration of the salt marsh. The students presented data around marsh plant diversity, water salinity, and fish populations. The students were presenting with several groups of high school students. They presented, interpreted data and then fielded questions from a group of scientists. They did a fantastic job!
- Our second Nock Buddies after-school activity will take place next Tuesday, November 25. Nock Buddy participants from all three grade levels will meet after school for some fun and games and crafts. The program will run from 2-3.
- David Johnson is also a visiting biologist that has been with us in seventh grade science classes this week.
- Just a reminder that students go out for recess after lunch and will need a warm coat.

Coming up:

Our annual talent show will be held on December 4th.

The PTO sponsored wreath sale pick up will be on Monday evening Dec. 1st outside of the gym.

More on both of those events next week.

Have a great weekend,

Beth
