NEWBURYPORT PUBLIC SCHOOLS

October 9, 2015

Dear Parents,

Just a reminder that our HW club has started and is held after school from 2-3 on Tuesday afternoons in room 231. This is provided for students who struggle with their HW when they get home or could use extra help to get started. This is available for all students.

Our guidance staff will begin stress management classes for middle school students. Classes will focus on skill building for managing stress, including development of strategies, problem solving and how to advocate for their needs. This series of 6 classes will run during student flex blocks and will rotate through groups of students at all grade levels. We all feel stress at times in our lives and our goal is to give our students the skills that will be useful to them during these times.

Our library is expected to be finished in the next week or so and it is now open to students to check out books. We are excited to finally have the dynamic space that will be the hub of our school. It is looking great and we cannot thank the NEF enough for providing us with this opportunity. We can't wait to show it to all of you.

I hope all of you enjoy the long weekend.

Beth
